REJUSTIFY S.À R.L.

DESCRIPTION

Rejustify has developed a technology to prepare data sets automatically, in real-time. This technology employs machine learning for empty table/data set format recognition to find the best matching variables from multiple primary sources simultaneously, query, access and fill them in appropriate formats into empty tables/data sets, instantly. Rejustify is a one stop shop to complex and disparate statistical databases with high quality structured data from both public and on-demand sources.
