2024 ANNUAL REPORT

The year 2024 unfolded in a complex global economic context, marked by ongoing international tensions that continued to weigh on supply chains and trade balances. It was also a year with a strong European dimension, notably shaped by the European elections held in June and ongoing EU-related developments that continued to influence FEDIL's activities.

Whether in the areas of energy and environmental issues, innovation, data economy and artificial intelligence, or in matters related to labour relations and talent management, the FEDIL team remained consistently attentive to the concerns of businesses, providing them with guidance and support across a wide range of matters.
